Beyond the Resume - About Me

Life, to me, is a long, wandering journey where writing and travel keep my caravan moving. I'm a digital nomad who questions everything, lives curiously, and chooses an unconventional path on purpose. I stay away from the rat race to avoid becoming robotic, preferring instead to chase quiet moments, new cultures, and stories hidden in ordinary places.

I explore the globe with a camera in hand, capturing memories and freezing time before it slips away. Goa is home for now, the place where I write, create, and ride my blue Vespa across states collecting stories along highways.

Outside of work, I'm a moody artist, a weekend poetess who owns a typewriter, and a forever reader of books and life; someone who feels deeply, thinks slowly, and is proudly an HSP.

My dream is to travel the world, write until my last breath, make a social impact, and leave behind stories that outlive me.
